

What Year and Type Is My 727?

Figure 1
Input shaft of 727
(non-lockup style)

The 727 (non-lockup style) was built from 1962 and on. Notice how the splines go to the end of the shaft (see Fig. 1 on left). The 727, non-lockup style, is preferred for performance building.

The A727 (lockup style) was built from 1978-1993. The A727 uses a torque converter with an internal clutch. Notice the machined area where the clutch inside the converter will seal (see Fig. 2 on left).
